Additional Comments

Literature Review:
She have had thoroguh reviews of numerous work on MDA

Problem Formulation:
MDA is a hot research topic lately

Methodology:
The choice of methodology is not bulit on fundamentals. It is more on trial and error.

Presentation:
Siya will have to practice more on English for communications

Communication:
Same as above

Knowledge in Research Topics:
She has built excellent knowdledge in this field. She should use this doctoral education opportunity to learn to use it.

Fundamental Knowledge:
Deep learning is also an important training direction for Siya to learn to use it, especially, on bioinformatics in her research direction.

Additional Comments

Literature Review:
The author present a brief background of miRNA, which affects cancer and cardiaovascular diseases. The authors present a comprehensive review work about deep matrix factorization, view-aware representation learning methods, network-based methods and matrix factorization.

Problem Formulation:
The author inputs the miRNA-Disease association data, and four similarity matrices.
And then ,based on the association data, two groups of similarity matrices are used for contrastive learning.

Methodology:
The author presents contrastive learning methods to calculate the attentions between the miRNA and disease matrices.

Presentation:
The presentation contents is accepted clear.

Communication:
The communication is acceptable.

Knowledge in Research Topics:
The discussions about the research background should be enhanced.

Fundamental Knowledge:
Acceptable
